U.S. Officials Foresee More Bulgarian Letters

May Ignore Ike's Call
To Find Other Ways
To Solve Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic officials said today it is quite likely Soviet Premier Bulganin will ignore President Eisenhower's advice and keep firing public letters at the White House.

If he does, they said, Eisenhower would have no choice but to answer the notes just as publicly.

Silence, it is felt, would only allow the Soviets to win a high-level propaganda war without a contest.

These officials discussed this outlook in the wake of the strongly worded Eisenhower letter to Bulganin which the White House made public Monday.

Told Letters Unwelcome

The Eisenhower message virtually told Bulganin further letters from him on the subject would be unwelcome. Eisenhower suggested instead that the Kremlin leaders concentrate on "less formal and less publicized contacts" if they genuinely want to improve relations and arrange a summit conference.

The Eisenhower letter, easily the toughest in tone he has sent to Bulganin in the past two years, clearly reflected his view that such communications should not be used for propaganda in the cold war.

Eisenhower compared the professed Soviet desire for peace with what he termed the "constant mounting accusations" by Kremlin leaders.

May Accept Challenge

Some authorities professed to see good prospects that the Kremlin would accept Eisenhower's challenge that they end some Soviet leaders on visits to the United States. Eisenhower invited them to learn "the real facts" about the American longing for peace.

He proposed that groups of Soviet "leaders of thought and influential citizens" be encouraged to make such trips.

Such Soviet visits need not hinge, authorities said, on Soviet willingness to allow similar inspection tours by high-ranking Americans.

Eisenhower's purpose in proposing the higher-level visits was to dispel what he called the "totally false conceptions" that Americans are warmongers plotting new hostilities for the sake of financial profit.

Eisenhower summed up the reason for his invitation in these words: "Most of the Soviet citizens who exert an influence are strangers to this country, with, I fear, totally false conceptions. These misconceptions I should like to see corrected in the interest of better relations."

Lake Michigan Area Hit by 20" of Snow

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind. (AP) — A new blizzard that left as much as 20 inches of additional snow in some sections hit northern Indiana Monday night, adding woes to the already snow-plagued Lake Michigan area.

South Bend was left with nearly 35 inches of snow. Michigan City, already covered with an estimated 54 inches, reported a little more during the night.

The Weather Bureau forecast more snow for the lake area today but predicted it would diminish to flurries by Wednesday.

South Bend stores closed early for the first time in 20 years. Most industry remained closed in Michigan City. Workers couldn't find room to dump snow removed from clogged streets.

Schools in South Bend and most of St. Joseph County were added to the closed list.

Subnormal amounts are indicated in the far Southwest and also in the region of the Great Lakes. In unspecified areas near normal is predicted.

Police Say Red Agents Were Aboard

N. Korea Refuses To Return Plane

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — South Korean police said today they had evidence at least seven Communist agents boarded the commercial airliner which flew to Red North Korea Sunday.

The police statement came after a North Korean newsman covering a U. N. Truce Commission meeting at Panmunjom hinted that a fight took place aboard the plane before it bypassed

Seoul and landed in Communist territory.

The Communist newsman told South Korean reporters some of the 34 persons aboard the plane were wounded and receiving medical treatment. The plane was piloted by two Americans.

The Communists at the Panmunjom meeting rejected the U. N. Command's demand for return of the airliner and the occupants. The Reds insisted on direct negotiations with President Syngman Rhee's South Korean government.

South Korean police said they believed the seven Communist agents — including two women — seized the Pusan-to-Seoul plane at gunpoint. They discounted speculation that the Communists wanted to kidnap any of the passengers. The agents are former war prisoners who were released in 1953 but did not return North.

The police said the plot to seize the plane apparently was masterminded by Kim Hyung, 34. He boarded the plane at Pusan with his 21-year-old wife and their baby, giving a false address in Seoul.

At Panmunjom, South Korean Ministry official termed "impossible" the Reds' demand for direct negotiations with the Rhee government for return of the plane. South Korea did not sign the armistice agreement suspending the Korean War and has

Two Brothers Found Guilty In Akron Killing

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Two brothers have been spared from the electric chair following their conviction of first degree murder by a panel of three judges.

John Miller, 26, and his brother Richard, 29, were found guilty Monday in the slaying of grocer Russell Foutty Oct. 28. The guilty verdict, with a recommendation of mercy, was returned by Common Pleas Judge H. Harvey and Stephen C. Colopy. A death sentence would have been mandatory without the mercy recommendation.

The Millers testified that Jack Foutty, 33, a nephew of the grocer, was the trigger man in the slaying. But Foutty testified John Miller fired the fatal shot.

The grocer was killed when he pulled a gun and started firing at three men who tried to rob him of $1,600 as he stepped from his car in the driveway of his home.

The Millers were tried by the three-man tribunal after they waived a jury trial and pleaded guilty to murder, throwing themselves on the mercy of the court as to the degree of guilt.

Summit County Prosecutor John Ballard said he will try to start Foutty's trial this week. The nephew also was charged with first degree murder.

House Group Probing Alleged FCC Bribery

Four Men from Miami
To Give Information
In Television Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special House investigating committee called four men from Miami today for more information about alleged payments to a federal communications commissioner in a Miami television case.

For the time being, the committee said it was through interrogating Bernard Schwartz, the counsel it fired last week and the one who made the allegations.

First witness for today was Herbert Sharfman, the FCC examiner who recommended in 1955 that Miami's TV Channel 10 be given to WKAT, owned by A. Frank Katzentine.

In February 1957, the FCC on a 4-2 vote granted the channel instead to Public Service Television, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of National Airlines. The award is now before the courts.

Summoned From Florida to testify were Paul R. Scott and Robert H. Anderson, now a circuit judge, whom Schwartz identified as members of the law firm representing the successful applicant; Thurman A. Whiteside, who Schwartz said wrote at least $2,650 in checks to FCC Commissioner Richard A. Mack while the case was pending; and Pertine Palmer Jr., described by Schwartz as a leading Miami political figure and a close acquaintance of Mack.

Whiteside has said he lent Mack money for many years, but both he and Mack have denied Schwartz's charges of a payment. Mack, who has called the charges "unsubstantiated" and "distortions," is to testify Thursday.

May Call Adams

Asked if Sherman Adams, chief assistant to President Eisenhower, would be called, Chairman Harris (D-Ark) told reporters, "We're going to try to get all the facts we can. We would be very glad to have any facts Sherman Adams would give us."

Adams' name came up in connection with a proceeding involving North American Airlines which was before the Civil Aeronautics Board. The board charged the nonscheduled carrier with violating regulations and sought to halt its operations.

Schwartz testified that in 1953

County Health Board Faces $10,870 Deficit

LISBON — A foreseeable deficit of $10,870 in receipts for 1958 compared with expenditures contained in the proposed budget for the Columbiana County Health Department was discussed at the Board's February meeting Monday evening.

The impending resignation of Walter Tschabold president of the board, also was discussed. Tschabold, a member for 10 years, is expected to send a letter to the board soon, citing the ill health of his wife as the reason for his resignation.

The 1959 expenditures will remain the same as this year. However, an attorney general's opinion prohibiting the county from licensing plumbers, a decrease in sanitation fees because of less building and repairing, and a drop in res-

182 Deaths Attributed to Weather

Bitter Cold Keeps Icy Grip on Nation

By The Associated Press

Bitter cold continued to hold much of the nation in an icy grasp today, disrupting transportation and stalling a vast snow removal job in the Eastern third of the country.

Forecasts seemed to bar any hope of early help for the Atlantic Seaboard, still trying to dig out from a weekend near-blizzard which struck from Mississippi to New England.

At least 182 deaths in the nation were attributed to the storm and cold.

Some snow shovelers dropped dead of heart attacks. Some stranded motorists were killed by carbon monoxide. Some children were crushed to death on sleds. Where traffic moved around snow banks and over icy roads, accidents took their toll.

With temperatures near zero in snowbound Washington, federal workers have another holiday today. All schools were closed in the District yesterday and tens of thousands of workers were absent from their jobs.

Throughout the Northeast, trains, planes, subways and buses struggled to maintain schedules but almost every piece of transportation equipment was delayed or disabled.

Airlines canceled hundreds of flights. Train ran up to 12 hours behind schedule on runs to and from Chicago, New York and Washington. Some trains and buses never left their terminals. Many unheated railroad cars added to passengers' woes.

Schools and factories closed.

George Co. Plan Gets Final Okay

EAST PALESTINE — The reorganization plan of the W. S. George Pottery Co. was given final approval Monday night by Atty. Ross E. Diser of Youngstown, federal bankruptcy referee.

Diser issued authority to the concern to order materials necessary for its operation. As soon as the journal entries of the legal proceedings are completed, payment to creditors will begin.

The secured creditors will receive payment in full; the unsecured creditors, 50 cents on the dollar.

Atty. Jack Cohen has been named disbursing agent. He will disburse funds to creditors under Diser's direction. A total of $300,000 will be distributed.

The stockholders will meet Friday, Feb. 28, at 8 p.m. at the American Legion Hall to elect directors and complete details relative to reopening the firm.

E. Palestine Council Tables Action on Railroad Signals

EAST PALESTINE — Council tabled action Monday night on a Pennsylvania Railroad proposal to install electric flasher lights at the N. Market St. crossing in the business district.

Councilmen had submitted a request to the railroad to install additional flasher lights on the manually operated gates which now are equipped with one light apiece.

They had urged railroad action as a result of three traffic mishaps at the crossing within the past three months. Although no one was injured in the accidents, some property damages were caused.

Representatives of the company attended last night's Council meeting and countered with the offer to install the electric lights. They pointed out the increased safety afforded by the automatic signals.

Council again last night refused to place on the ballots a proposal to purchase a new fire truck to replace the town's 27-year-old truck and ladder rig.

Fire Chief Glenn Libert has urged Council to put the issue on the ballots and let the people decide whether or not they want the truck.

Councilmen claim the people don't want the truck and to put the issue on the ballots would only involve unnecessary expense.

GOP Against Tax Cut Now

Congressional Chiefs
See Cut In Jobless

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders of Congress agreed with President Eisenhower's key Cabinet officers today that it "would not be wise" to cut taxes as a business stimulant at this time.

Following a breakfast conference at the White House, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California told reporters the decision was "of course subject to review" before Congress adjourns in late July or early August.

Tax reduction was the subject of "round table discussion," Knowland said, along with the question whether the government should launch a major public works program to counter the recession.

Both the administration chiefs and the minority Congress members agreed, Knowland said, that unemployment will start declining in March and business will turn up fairly soon thereafter without artificial stimulus.

"If the anticipated improvement did not take place before midyear when Congress nears adjournment, public works would get serious consideration."

The congressional delegation, headed by Knowland and Rep. Martin (R-Mass), House minority leader, got a briefing on the economic outlook from Secretary of the Treasury Anderson, Secretary of Commerce Weeks and Secretary of Labor Mitchell.

Proposals to set a tax reduction in motion, Knowland said, would be unwise at this time "because of heavy government obligations and the importance of not

Cut to Conserve Supply For Use Of Residences

4 348 Rural School
Children Remain
At Homes Today

Production at seven or eight large Salem district industries was slowed today when the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. ordered an emergency 25 per cent curtailment of the use of natural gas because of the continued cold weather.

A low of six degrees below zero was recorded here Monday night after Sunday's low of minus 12 but the weatherman cautiously predicted today that, after Thursday, temperatures "may moderate."

Local thermometers touched three degrees below zero last night at midnight and dropped an other three degrees by 6 a.m. A "warming trend" was noted this morning with the mercury climbing above zero and the sun shining through winter skies.

Rural Schools Closed

A number of rural schools remained closed today because of cold and roads badly drifted with snow.

The gas company's curtailment of gas to industries was done to enable the firm to have an adequate supply for home use explained Delmer Smith, Salem division manager of Ohio Fuel.

At East Palestine today the East Ohio Gas Co. banned all use of gas by plants in the neighboring city and about 290 workers at three factories were idled. The hardest-hit industries there were Fitzpatrick Industries, Electrical Refractories and the M.W. Manufacturing Co.

East Ohio's order was issued at noon Monday, Ohio Fuel's late yesterday.

Mr. Smith explained that Ohio Fuel had asked commercial users with standby fuel to go on their reserve supplies and that large industrial firms cut back their gas usage by 25 per cent of their normal consumption.

A number of Salem industries have standby fuel for emergencies such as this and no curtailment of production was expected.

Policeman Triumphs Over Marijuana

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — Asst. Police Chief Willie Bauer did win his struggle with marijuana after all. He revealed the facts recently after recovering from considerable stoop labor, calloused hands and a pocketbook dent.

His motives aimed at law and order, education of the young and protecting the department budget. Bauer's project: a small-scale farm operation. The crop: marijuana.

Marijuana is a plant that is dried and smoked like a cigarette. It gives smokers a real jay during which the are not responsible for their actions. Its possession is illegal.

Chief Bauer noted that rookie cops knew little about the weed.

To educate these youngsters, he designed a mechanical smoker and persuaded some engineers to build one.

But he didn't like the quality of the marijuana the force picked up now and then. So he decided to grow his own supply for the mechanical smoker.

Neighbors made friendly in quires about his beautiful plants and asked the name.

Bauer left the impression that the plants belonged to a rare tropical family.

When he harvested enough for the police school, he cut the remainder and burned them. That would destroy them.

That's what Bauer thought. Sprouts grew back almost overnight.

He pulled them up. More sprouts appeared.

In desperation, he poured oil over the garden and set it afire.

But here came those plants peeping up again and shooting upward fast.

For several days Bauer spent most of his spare time trying to mow faster than the plants grew. He kept mowing until mowing in the same spot began to appear odd.

"It looked pretty silly to the neighbors," he said ruefully.

Bauer finally worked out a massive defense plan.

He telephoned a construction company, ordered a concrete slab poured on his garden and a garage built on top.

Foes of the drug traffic will be happy to learn that as of last reports no marijuana plants have penetrated the policeman's concrete.

The search continued for a fourth man.

The four men were trapped Friday night when the Elkins twine factory collapsed during a five-alarm blaze. Two city firemen were killed.

Firemen from Logan, Lancaster, Crooksville, Sugar Grove, Malta, McConnelsville, Nelsonville and Bremen battled the blaze in freezing temperatures during the early morning darkness. Civil Defense units from Athens and Jackson were at the scene.

Firemen said the Johnson Building, housing the J. C. Penney store, a dentist's office, auto supply warehouse, Moose lodge and credit bureau, and the Factory Outlet store were destroyed. Both were two-story buildings, owned by Theodore Johnson and Anthony Thomas of Logan, respectively.

Damage was tentatively estimated at a half a million dollars.

Does Reuther Know the Answers?

If Walter Reuther were successful in negotiating a profit-sharing program for his Auto Workers' Union, there would be more than a remote possibility that the rank-and-filers might be taken on a joy ride up a blind alley. But Mr. Reuther would be the last to admit it.

Immediately after the 3,000 delegates to the UAW's special convention in Detroit had overwhelmingly endorsed the profit-sharing proposal, Reuther warned that 1958 negotiations will be rough. He added: If you think the vilification and the propaganda aimed at us since the profit-sharing plan was announced have been vicious just wait and see what happens to us now."

The dispatch with which the opposition faction in Mr. Reuther's own union was beaten down at the convention leaves no doubt that any outside opposition, whether right or wrong will be, in Mr. Reuther's own word for it, "vilification."

But is it vilification to ask about the fate of auto workers in plants that are not making a profit?

Won't they become dissatisfied and seek employment in the plant making the biggest profit?

What about the car owner who is driving a new model and gets no rebate at the end of the year? Won't he confine his future trades to auto dealers who handle the make that pays the biggest refund?

What auto maker will get the pick of the crop of job seekers?

Where does this leave the manufacturer who is struggling to keep his plant in operation so his employees will have a pay day?

The big three, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, would survive for a time but eventually their ranks would be reduced to one giant operation.

What then would happen to the auto worker and the motoring public?

These are a few of the questions raised by the profit-sharing program that Mr. Reuther is preparing to force on the auto makers, the UAW and the public. Does he know the answers to the questions he has raised?

Not the Time For Exaggeration

On Feb. 4, presumably-busy U.S. Sen. Albert Gore of Tennessee found time to go to Memphis, where photographers and reporters were called in to take his picture inspecting free food from government surplus stocks being given to needy persons in that city.

The Democratic senator is readying a proposal that Congress set up a public works program to create jobs. His trip home gave him a chance to make a statement. His theme: Things are as bad as they were in the 30s—bread lines are back.

On Feb. 6, the city of Lorain, O., made arrangements with bakeries to give returned baked goods to Lorain families on city relief lists. Again the theme crooned into the news that bread lines had become common in the United States.

Both Memphis and Lorain are high-unemployment areas. They have been hit hard by a slump in orders for their steel mills. No one is trying to minimize the proportions of their unemployment problems.

But there is another problem that goes with unemployment, and it must be faced honestly if the United States wants to do justice to itself. It is the problem of how to maintain perspective in a period of stress.

This is not the time for exaggeration. It is not the time to play politics with human misery. It is not the time for sensationalists to distort reality in their relentless pursuit of something out of the ordinary.

During the early 30s when a Washington state apple growers' cooperative hit upon the idea of selling surplus apples on city streets, sensationalists twisted a sales gimmick into a symbol of economic desperation. Bad as things were in the 30s, they were made to seem worse by propagandists.

Things are not approaching the state of the 30s now. They must not be made to seem worse than they are by exaggeration, either thoughtless or malicious.

Help the School Band

A small number of determined women, members of the Band Mothers Club, have contributed more than their share of time and effort toward providing the Salem High School bandmen with new uniforms.

Through various projects during the past two years, the Band Mothers, assisted by other interested persons, have managed to raise $3,000. About $1,800 more is required to outfit the band members in brighter colors. New uniforms are badly needed. The present black and red outfits were purchased 16 years ago, and have run the gamut of repairs.

The Board of Education is prohibited by law from buying uniforms but you can help. There's nothing on the State statute books that says you can't help the high school's outstanding concert and marching band slip into new uniforms in time for the annual spring concert.

You may direct your donations to Mrs. Donald Lease or Mrs. Charles Vincent. All the band members will thank you.

Not Worth the Trip

The revolt among the robins this winter has come into the open. For years, they have been grumbling about the necessity of going South just because their ancestors always went there. This year, they stayed put in such numbers that their indecision is heart-warming.

Anyone who has not seen a "first robin" in January 1958 has not been looking. The robins have been with us all winter. In many areas huge flocks of them have wintered together in group defiance of the tradition that robins always went south for the winter.

Moreover, if they have been reading the papers they could feel justified. Southern weather has been horrible. Besides, no robin could welcome the thought of being killed in a political revolution.

We are proud of them for their show of independence. All of us who stay put to keep the home fires burning welcome their presence. It simply is not necessary to go South to sustain life in winter, not even if one happens to be a robin.

Once Over

Madison Square Garden had its big dog show last week. The 1958 models were extensively displayed, with so few innovations and style changes that most people are expected to keep their 1956 and 1957 pooches for at least another season. It was only show so far in which no tailfins were introduced or front and rear end changed.

There was a slight trend to larger and longer pooches but still not too elongated to make sense.

Kingsize dogs continue in too great demand in New York, a situation most unfair to the dogs. One of the saddest big city sights is the oversized canine meant for the great open spaces but condemned by fate to live in small apartments reachable only by elevator and doomed to sniff only artificial shrubbery, paper flowers and magazine pictures of farm-lands.

There should be a dog-show ribbon for city dogs maintain good nature in an atmosphere of hot bus-brakes, orange drink stands and corner delicatessen stores.

WE WENT TO THE SHOW with P. Ramsey Quotile, who distinguishes himself each year by flashing a badge as a judge and getting thrown out for pointing to a very friendly dog of no class whatever and saying, "I proclaim you BEST IN THE SHOW."

He was thrown 10 feet further this year establishing a new record. Quotile sneaked back and pinned some awards on our entry "Bowery Alley's Whatizit," a son of "Miscellaneous Affections III." This pooch has blood line of the Alaskan Husky, the Staffordshire Terrier, the Biscayne Greyhound, the Mexican Chihuahua and the Alpine St. Bernard. He got three ribbons:

1. Dog Farthest North From Thoroughbred Lines.
2. Dog Most Likely To Be A Friend, With or Without Registration Papers.
3. Pooch Most Resentful of Being Combed, Brushed and Perfumed.

OUR DOG GOT the ribbons after a battle. It was a photo between him and a wonderfully likeable dog named "Anything Goes IV," whose old man was "Field Romping Fool III," "Gypsy Bum Supreme" or a poodle who would answer to no name except "Rags."

"Bowery Alley's Whatizit," won only because he lacked one ear, while the others still had two.

WE NOTICED that the pug dog came back a little at this 1958 dog show. We hadn't seen one in years, but in our boyhood they were quite the thing. If a fellow couldn't afford a live pug he kept one made in pottery form.

"We Don't Seem to Be Moving"

The $64,000 Question

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — What is honestly in a government official?

Dr. Bernard Schwartz, the emotional law professor described as both brilliant and arrogant, has raised this question. It can stand steady raising in big government.

In some ways Schwartz handled himself like a juvenile. But he got results. At least so far.

He was hired by the House subcommittee on legislative oversight as chief counsel to investigate six big government regulatory agencies which were created by Congress and are answerable to Congress.

These agencies—and the 38 men who sit on their boards and commissions—make decisions affecting not only many businesses and broad areas of American life but involving billions of dollars.

Tapping Fort Knox for 100 million dollars in emergency reserve gold so that new currency can be issued against it is another side to the complicated and often mysterious part that gold plays.

Important elements in the story of gold include the secret hoard of the Russians and how they use it from time to time; the amount that the United States keep as legal backing to its currency; the dollar investments of foreign lands which theoretically could be turned into gold on demand; and the Treasury's emergency gold reserve.

This reserve was once nearly three billion dollars. Now it's 400 million.

Matter of Fact

The word history comes from a Greek word meaning inquiry. It was first given its modern meaning by Herodotus, an Ionian Greek. In the middle of the fifth century B.C. he wrote his "History," an inquiry into the causes of the long wars between the Greeks and the Persians. Even though he was not an accurate historian, Herodotus reconstructed a past period and made it live again.

No Lack of Cooks

Many Seek to Stir Nation's Economic Broth

WASHINGTON Economic policy discussion is today considered more confused than it has been since the depression 29 years ago.

The White House and Congress seem to be working at cross purposes, on the subject. Private business does not endorse what either is trying to do. Management and labor spokesmen are at odds as usual, only more so.

On the one hand you have President Eisenhower's messages to Congress recommending cuts in public works and certain social welfare programs. The purpose is said to be providing more money for missiles and higher education, while still keeping the budget within a half billion dollars or so of a balance.

The fact that the administration has asked for a five billion dollar increase in the national debt, to 280 billion, raises real doubts about whether the budget can be balanced at all.

CONGRESS GOES ALONG ON increasing defense expenditures. It may appropriate even more than the administration asks. But pressure is building up to oppose the administration-proposed cuts in reclamation projects, public assistance grants to the states and all such measures intended to save government money.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson's proposals to cut farm price support levels so as to reduce surpluses and save the government more billions gets little support.

In the light of these developments there are open charges that the Eisenhower budgets for this year and next are completely unrealistic if not actually misleading.

Reason behind these charges is the lack of willingness to tighten belts in Congress. Last year's economy drive spirit seems to be past. Bigger deficit spending is in sight.

In spite of this, National Association of Manufacturers and U.S. Chamber of Commerce recommend major tax cuts. They would have the effect of cutting government receipts and raising deficits.

WHITE HOUSE IS OPTIMISTIC about a business upturn this year. A panel of executive experts before the Joint Congressional Economic Committee could find little evidence to support this hope.

The only prop seen for the economy was in increased spending for national defense. This makes missiles and higher education glorified WPA projects, in spite of denials.

Meanwhile, the proposals from economic soothsayers of organized labor unions make the bad business situation seem worse. And it is not just Walter Reuther's new demands for profit-sharing that throw government and management economists into a tizzy.

Stanley J. Ruttenberg, director of the AFL-CIO department of research, is advocating a plan to "cut federal taxes without cutting federal revenue." This tops the N.A.M.-U.S.C.C. scheme.

Ruttenberg's idea is to increase individual tax exemptions from $600 to $700 a year. He would make up nine billion dollars of the resulting revenue loss by closing all special privilege tax loopholes granted to business over many years.

WHAT MOST BUSINESS LEADERS have not yet admitted is that large scale unemployment and layoffs have put the heat on union officials for remedies that will stabilize worker income.

The theory of many labor union economists seems to be that wage increases now being demanded—in spite of decreased business—would increase purchasing power and so restore prosperity. Reuther's idea is to increase purchasing power by redistributing profits.

How much of the labor demand is sincere and how much of it is a smoke screen to improve bargaining position in forthcoming wage negotiations is of course debatable.

When the country is prosperous there can be big differences in economic theories without anybody getting hurt — so long as none of the theories is put in practice.

But when business is declining, the wide differences in proposed remedies only serve to make the average person wonder how much the supposedly smart economists of the country know what they're talking about.

On the Pair

By TRUMAN TWILL

An enemy of mine, the goat, gets what is coming to him in "The Courier," monthly publication of United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

UNESCO's aim is to make things better for mankind, so it had to tee off on the goat, once it had learned the score.

I am not one to hold grudges. I can forgive and forget. But about goats I am adamant. Conceding everything claimed in behalf of goat's milk and goat hair, I assert that the goat is unfitted for this earth. It is the Gial Monster of mammals.

"The Courier" shows by description, photograph and statistic how the goat, if permitted to get away with his depredations, will make the earth uninhabitable for the animal kingdom. He will do this, as anyone who knows G from Goat can testify, by eating everything in reach.

He will pull up all underground vegetation by the roots and yank down everything growing above ground, eating what he can chew and smashing up whatever residue is too big to swallow. Nothing will be left alive.

On Rearing Children

I think there are a lot of qualified school teachers at work in other professions because some of our children are so inconsiderate and rude that some teachers can't face up to the situations.

Not too long ago a teacher was called into court for punishing an unruly pupil, all because the mother became unduly alarmed.

Let's remember, first, that discipline begins in the home. Parents must take the blame for their wayward children and admit that, after all, the teachers should be commended, not criticized, for the good job they do.

The majority of school students are well-behaved and want to learn, but a good yardstick used at home on some undisciplined pupils could save the teachers many a headache.

French, Tunisians Accept U.S.-British Mediation Offer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The U.S.-British offer of "good offices" to help solve the French-Tunisian dispute was expected to bring a speedy suspension to U.N. Security Council debate today on the charges growing out of the French bombing of a Tunisian village.

Although both France and Tunisia accepted the British-American offer, neither made a move to avert the Council meeting scheduled after Tunisia complained to the U.N. and the French filed a countercharge.

However, diplomats both at the U.N. and in London were confident both nations would now try to avoid a bitter debate which the Communists could exploit.

These sources predicted each nation would make a restrained statement explaining its charges, and that the necessary 7 of 11 Council members then would be mustered to adjourn the debate, giving the good offices a chance to work.

U.S. officials in Washington said they would offer "concrete suggestions and proposals" on outstanding problems between France and her former protectorate. Instead of a single conference bringing both sides together, a coordinated diplomatic drive will be made in Paris and Tunis.

Tunisia requested the Security Council meeting to consider her charge of French aggression in attacking Sakiet Elidi Youssef Feb. 8, killing 79 men, women and children.

France countercharged that Tunisia is sheltering rebels who have been in revolt in neighboring Algeria for more than three years. France said the Sakiet Elidi raid was directed against rebels who had attacked French forces in Algeria from the village.

Tunisia used the French countercharge as the basis of a letter last night to Council President Arkady A. Sobolev of the Soviet Union declaring the Algerian revolt should be considered an international problem.

A new attempt to justify the Sakiet raid was made in a regular publication of resident minister Robert LaCoste in Algiers. It said the raid was as necessary as Allied bombings of occupied French port cities during World War II, even though both caused civilian casualties.

"Certainly," the bulletin said, "France, which has not forgotten her losses in the recent past from bombardments... deplores... innocent victims unfortunately struck down by necessary action which had no business being (in Sakiet)."

Ambassadors and French newsmen who toured Sakiet after the attack said most of the victims appeared to be civilians.

forty-eight Columbiana County school students still are on vacation due to hazardous road conditions, according to Supt. James L. McBride.

County schools still closed today were United Local, 966 pupils; Beaver Local schools, 1,980; Fairfield-Local, 834; West Local, 423; and Wayne Local, 125, and Goshen Union in Mahoning County.

Columbiana County highway department reported all units are out on the county roads, which are reported icy and drifted, but open.

River Boats Flee From Ice

The frigid blast is beginning to take its toll on Ohio's commerce, industry and education.

Monday, the U. S. Corps of Engineers warned all boats on the Ohio River to head for shelter. Sub-zero weather had created hazardous ice conditions.

An Engineers' spokesman at Huntington, W. Va., said it looks like the worst situation on the river, since 1939.

Gas companies began using clauses in their contracts with industrial users to call on the users to curtail use of gas. The gas companies said it enabled them to have sufficient gas on hand for home use.

Ohio Fuel Gas Co. first asked 603 industrial and commercial customers in 59 counties to switch to an alternate fuel and then later Monday asked 328 bit industrial customers to curtail their total use of gas by 25 per cent.

East Ohio Gas Co., which also ordered industrial users to switch to standby fuel supplies, reported that despite the curtailment to more than 650 industrial customers, consumption has been hitting an all-time high.

Steel Plants Shut Down

The East Ohio Co. cut off all gas for industrial use in Canton and Youngstown Monday. In Niles and Youngstown, 5,000 workers in basic steel and fabricating plants were sent home. Some 2,000 workers at the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co. also were sent away from their jobs.

In Warren, 1,000 workers of the Trumbull Lamp and Ohio Electric Co. were temporarily out of work. Schools were closing throughout the state. The total is well above the 100 mark. Icy roads and the shortage of heating gas were the chief causes for the unexpected holiday.

Florida Still Being Plagued By Cold Waves

KEECHOBEE, Fla. (AP) — The first cold wave of Florida's worst winter poured down the peninsula the night of Dec. 11.

There was plenty of warning. The Federal-State Frost Warning Service alerts Florida people at least 24 hours ahead of time.

The cattle rancher, the vegetable grower and the citrus farmer had time to get ready.

After midnight temperatures dropped to the danger point.

Thus began the most disastrous winter Florida has ever known. Since Dec. 11, other cold waves have followed in fearful regularity. In between torrential rains have fallen.

On brown pastures, where at this time of year the clover ought to be standing tall and green, cattle are starving.

In the citrus belt, 30 million boxes of fruit have been killed. Truck crops on which much of America depends for its fresh salads in wintertime have been ploughed under, frost-blackened and dead.

J. O. Pearce Jr., president of the Florida Cattlemen's Assn., predicted recently that if the bad weather continued through February, 275,000 head of cattle would die in south Florida.

At Immokalee, in the great winter vegetable-growing region, there has been ice on the vegetable fields, 20 to 25 inches of rain in six weeks—continuous cold and biting winds.

Farmer Ewell Moore has ploughed under one crop of tomatoes, cucumbers, corn and watermelons and half of another. His third crop of the winter is just beginning to sprout.

The temperature Dec. 12 dropped to 24 near Orlando and killed the foliage on many citrus trees. Much new growth which had popped out on the trees after the December freeze as now been killed. About 6,000 boxes of fruit froze on his trees.

This year's deficit was made up by townships, towns and villages in the health district which turned over to the board $7,170 above their annual stipend of $25,000.

The board this year will give back $24,737.15 to the sub-divisions because of an attorney general's ruling that a county health board cannot carry over unused amounts from year to year as it had been doing.

A meeting will be held Monday, March 3, of the Health and Advisory Council to decide what action to take to make up the predicted deficit.

Three board members attended last night's meeting. Bills were authorized paid. No other business was transacted pending the appointment of a new board member to replace Stewart Curcio who died Dec. 4.

The next regular board meeting will be Monday, March 17.

Adams discussed the airlines' case with Harmer B. Denny, then acting chairman of the CAB, on behalf of the airlines' attorney, Murray Chotiner.

Former Nixon Associate

Chotiner, a Los Angeles lawyer, is a former campaign manager for Vice President Nixon.

Harris read into the record two letters from Adams to Chotiner. One said Adams had talked with Denny about steps North American could take to delay the effective date of an order revoking its operating authority. It ended: "Is there anything further in his case that I can do?"

The second letter said Adams was "looking into the matter."

Schwartz said he didn't know whether Adams' actions had any influence, but said he considered them "grossly improper."

He added that the CAB agreed to delay its order pending a court review and North American got a four-year delay before being forced out of business.

refused to recognize the Communist regime.

Col. Kim Joon Kyung of North Korea claimed at the secretariat meeting that those aboard the plane had "defected because they could not stand any more of the U.S. aggressive policy against South Korea."

Kim said the issue was not a proper subject for consideration by the armistice commission set up to police the truce.

U.S. Navy Capt. George W. Kehl, the U.N. member of the secretariat, termed the Communist explanation of the plane's flight north "utterly fantastic."

He asserted that "since one or more Communist agents" kidnaped the plane and its passengers, the issue was a proper one for the armistice group.

Kehl told newsmen later the issue could be handled through other channels, such as neutral nations or the U.N. itself. But at this point, he added, the armistice commission was the proper channel.

The Communists also refused to accept from Kehl a list of the crewmen and passengers aboard and an inventory of the cargo.

The pilot was Willis P. Hobbs, Vallejo, Calif., an American civilian employed by the Korean National Airline. A U.S. Air Force officer, Lt. Col. Howard W. McClellan, Buchanan, Mich., was flying as copilot to log additional flight time.

They were believed forced to fly to North Korea by Communist agents in disguise aboard the plane, which was bound from Pusan to Seoul.

Knowland said the Cabinet of officers cited several government programs which will be "furnishing a beneficial stimulus to the economy."

The programs, all previously recommended to Congress by President Eisenhower or already in operation, included a post office construction program, highway building, measures to ease housing credit, stepped-up military spending and credit-liberalizing measures of the Federal Reserve Board.

The government measures so far taken cannot be considered "pump-priming," Knowland told reporters, because they are "constructive in nature and will bring a beneficial chain reaction."

Negro Girl Is Expelled At Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — The Little Rock School Board Monday night expelled Minniejean Brown, one of nine Negroes admitted to Central High School last fall.

Supt. Virgil T. Blossom, who recommended the action against the 16-year-old girl, said Minniejean could not attend a public school, white or Negro, in the Little Rock district until next September.

The decision to expel Minniejean, who already was under a two-week suspension, came a few hours after Blossom disclosed that three white students — two boys and a girl — were suspended after racial incidents Monday at the 2,000-pupil school.

W. B. Brown, father of the Negro girl who claims she has been the main target of segregationist students during the five months the Negroes have attended Central, labeled the suspension as "very unfair."

School officials have declined to give reasons for Minniejean's latest suspension. The suspension followed a corridor clash between the Negro and a white girl. Minniejean has said the white girl struck her with a purse after "I called her white trash, because she was bothering me."

Minniejean previously was suspended for about two weeks for throwing food on two white boys in the school cafeteria.

Work of 2 Young Salem Artists Will Be Exhibited

Two Salem High School art students will have paintings on exhibit in New York City during the National Scholastic Art show in May.

The prize winning paintings of Harry Izenour and Denise Duke were chosen at the 15-county scholastic art show held Saturday at O'Neils in Akron.

Izenour, a senior, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Izenour of 688 Fair St. He won three gold keys and nine honorable mentions in the Akron show. A water color and felt pen drawing will be sent to New York.

Miss Duke, a junior, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Duke of Franklin Road. She received two gold keys at the Akron competition. A water color will be exhibited in New York.

Three other Salem students of Mrs. Mory Jean Bisset who received awards Saturday are: Margaret Evans, senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Evans of RD 3, Salem, one gold key; Beverly Yates, senior, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Yates of 735 Prospect St., one honorable mention; and Carol Luce, junior, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Luce of 26 W. 10th St., nine honorable mentions.

These awards were given during a private showing Saturday for the judges who were art teachers, art critics and art collectors for museums in the northeastern Ohio area. The Akron exhibit will be open to the public this week.

Put time... and your physician on your side.

Illness often brings with it the temptation to "wait it out" for a few days or weeks — perhaps to do some "home-doctoring" — or to ignore it.

You may even know some folks who wait until an emergency to call their physicians. They may be "ashamed to complain,"... don't want to be known as "hypochondriacs."

These people are courting trouble, by depriving their physician of time in which he could be helping them. It's a wise health policy to check with your physician the first moment an unusual symptom occurs.

FOR THE PETITE: Chic Clothes It used to be downright impossible for the petite woman to find clothes that were chic.

But increasingly, there's a realization on the part of designers and manufacturers that there are many small women who like smart clothes. Their clothes must be far shorter from shoulder to waist than the corresponding misses' size. They must also be proportioned differently in order to look well.

Proportion is, in fact, the whole secret of successful petite sizes. Prints need to be smaller and more delicate than those used for regular sizes. Petite fashions need trim lines to look well. Belts are narrow, shoulders gently rounded, full skirts gathered gently over the hip line and straight skirts cut with subtle shaping.

Andrew Arkin well understands the secret of successful petite fashions. We show here two designs from his spring collection, one with a full skirt and one with narrow lines.

The full-skirted dress (left) is a floral print silk surrah in melon. The neat little line jacket has rounded shoulders, is lined in the dress print. Sheath dress and jacket (right) are done in black and white hound's tooth check silk surrah. The jacket is semi-fitted; the sheath is fitted and belted. Jacket has a bright orange silk lining.

YOU AND YOUR ARTERIES:

Hypertension Is a Major Factor in Atherosclerosis

By A. C. CORCORAN, M.D.
Cleveland Clinic Foundation
Written for NEA Service

CLEVELAND — As our medical scientists probe for definitive knowledge regarding the causative factors behind atherosclerosis among them nutrition, hormones, exercise and heredity — they have at hand conclusive evidence that hypertension (high blood pressure) is to be listed among the causes.

No one dies of hypertension itself. People who have high blood pressure die as a result of the blood vessel and heart disease that follows in its wake. This disease is atherosclerosis, the most serious form of arteriosclerosis, or "hardening of the arteries."

Apparently, the impact of months and years of high blood pressure damages the vessels. They lose their elasticity because the little fibres of elastic tissue in the walls of the vessels become stretched, split, frayed and broken.

AS THIS PROCESS goes on, the vessels become scarred and accumulate fatty deposits in their linings. These may of themselves obstruct the flow of blood. Probably more commonly something happens in this scarred, fatty mass — perhaps bleeding into its base or loss of its lining membrane. Either process results in an area on which a clot will form and this is the usual basis of heart attacks and strokes.

Doctors have recognized for a long time that high blood pressure and atherosclerosis were closely associated diseases. But, until recently, we had no firm views on the nature of this association.

Formerly, most doctors thought that the hardening of the arteries occurred first, and that, as a consequence, the blood pressure rose. This rise of pressure was even considered beneficial because, they reasoned, it helped maintain blood flow through the thickened vessels. This view, no longer held, retarded and delayed research on high blood pressure for many years. We now know that high blood pressure is one of the common causes of atherosclerosis, and an increased risk of one of its complications.

HAPPILY, RESEARCH has achieved important advances in the treatment of high blood pressure. About five years ago, doctors everywhere were provided with drugs which were truly effective in controlling this disorder. A five-year study of these drugs was recently completed. We reviewed the histories of a group of patients who had come for treatment of a very severe form of high blood pressure known as "malignant hypertension."

Until these drugs became available, we knew that of 100 such patients about 50 would die within six months, and about 80 within a year. At the end of five years there would be only one or two lingering on.

Our survey showed that 70 per cent of treated patients survived more than one year, and that some 30 per cent survived for five years, with most of them leading active, productive and comparatively normal lives.

We believe that starting now, with better drugs and more "know how" in their use, we can double this five-year survival rate, particularly if patients receive treatment before their blood vessels have been so damaged by high blood pressure that arteriosclerosis begins and progresses.

THIS IS A SUBSTANTIAL accomplishment. It is important to remember that a majority of those who died were victims of some complication of atherosclerosis — such as a stroke, a heart attack, rupture of a large vessel or kidney damage. In other words, we had relieved the immediate situation for many, but they were left with a residue of vessels damaged during their period of uncontrolled high blood pressure.

So it follows that we are faced with the urgent problem of finding for these patients, something, which, in association with drugs used in treating high blood pressure, will check the spread of atherosclerosis.

But this is not enough. High blood pressure is an insidious disease. Few people know they have it until they have suffered some of its complications, by which time the damage is usually well established. Clearly, there is urgent need for accelerated research into all phases of the problem of atherosclerosis, especially that associated with high blood pressure.

NOT MANY YEARS AGO this would have been regarded as a hopeless undertaking. But, just as we have accomplished so much so recently in the field of high blood pressure research, we may be confident that sooner or later the missing answers will be turned up.

It will be sooner if medical research gets the support it needs and must have. It will be sooner if the public supports heart and blood vessel research through contributions to the 1958 Heart Fund campaign of the American Heart Association and its affiliated Heart Associations.

(Last of a series).

Joe Case Charged With Arson;
Is Bound Over To Grand Jury

COLUMBIANA — Joe Case, a former quartermaster of Columbian Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 5532, has been bound over to the Grand Jury under $500 bond on a charge of arson filed in connection with a fire last Nov. 3 at the post home.

In addition, a warrant charging embezzlement of $645, filed by the VFW as an aftermath to the fire, awaits Case when local authorities locate him.

Case appeared Friday morning before County Judge Luther Donbar at East Palestine and through his attorney, Earl Miller of Salem, entered a plea of not guilty to the arson charge. The charge was filed by Mike Melillo of Youngstown, deputy state fire marshal. Case posted the bond.

BOTH WARRANTS were issued by Mayor E. L. Calvin of Columbiana and have been outstanding for some time. Local police have been unable to locate Case to serve the second warrant. His last address was in Columbiana.

The November fire early on a Sunday morning, charred the interior of the two-story post home on E. Friend St. and ruined the upstairs club rooms. VFW officers then estimated the damage at $15,000. The post has been considering plans for erecting a new home.

In a Columbiana Mayor's Court case, Leroy Rouse Jr., no address, has been bound over to the Grand Jury under $1,500 bond each on two counts of issuing fraudulent checks. He was lodged in county jail when unable to make bond after the hearing Saturday morning. Charges were preferred by the Citizen's Bank and J. & E. Record Shop.

ROBERT W. ELSBERRY, 43 Garfield St., Youngstown, was fined a total of $55 on three traffic counts at a hearing before Mayor Calvin. He entered pleas of guilty to charges of speeding, $15; failure to apply for vehicle registration, $15, and no driver's license, $25.

Wilfred D. Kyser of Columbiana was fined $10 after pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving. Philo Class of the Methodist Church will meet at 7:15 p.m. Thursday at the church to attend Lenten services at the Christian Church. The group will meet afterward at the home of Mrs. Harold Nelson.

Loss of Faculties In the Aging

Every one of us who lives long enough will face old age. It is not always the happiest time of life but neither does it need to be a sad or tragic experience.

Older people are often freed from some of the problems which troubled them when they were younger. When one adjusts to inevitable changes and if one has the understanding and sympathy of the younger members of the family and friends life can become contented and comfortable.

AGING OF THE BODY and mind does not occur suddenly, nor does it progress at the same rate of speed for everyone. Some who are in their 80's and 90's are spry physically and remain mentally keen.

Others however who may be 20 years younger can show signs of physical frailty and slowing down of the mental processes.

One of the complaints of many older people is a poor memory. Often an elderly person will remember things which happened 20 or even 50 years earlier but will get mixed up on recent events.

This is often shown by repeating the same story over and over again. It can be annoying to the listener but should be taken cheerfully because it is not intentional.

Only when loss of memory becomes extremely severe and is associated with other changes in mental functioning, is it proper to speak of true senility. Even in this condition, however, the memory for events which happened years before may remain good, while that for events which occurred recently is confused.

THE PERSON WHO has developed serious mental deficiencies because of great age is not as a rule, much upset about it himself. Nature seems to give the aged

Ice Conditions Hamper
Ohio River Traffic

CINCINNATI (AP) — Water traffic on the upper Ohio River is close to a virtual standstill today as ice moves in.

The U.S. Corps of Engineers continued lowering dams from Pittsburgh to Louisville, Ky., to protect them from ice conditions.

Engineers also warned any boats

Monday on the full length of the river to head for port and stay there until the ice buildup eases.

Col. R. E. Smyser Jr., U.S. Engineer for the Ohio River Division, said: "Ice conditions in the Ohio River are bad and will get worse within the next 48 hours."

The river has not been shut down to boat traffic since 1941. Early reports indicate ice from a half inch to three inches from Pittsburgh to Cairo, Ill.

McKinley, Chaney Listed In Top 20

The Salem High Quakers advanced another notch today as they moved from seventh to sixth place in the state Associated Press poll of the state's basketball powers.

Other district teams in the top twenty in Class AA include Canton McKinley, 13th; Youngstown Chaney, 15th; Newton Falls, 17th; and Poland, 19th.

Goshen's Gophers vaulted into fourth place in the Class A voting, hauling in six first place votes for 143 points. The Gophers are only three points behind third place Bethel, a school with only 16 boys.

The Green and White were 24 points ahead of fifth place Deshler.

Bill Rigney Looking For Field Captain

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Bill Rigney is looking for a "take charge guy" for his San Francisco Giants infield.

The Giants haven't had a field captain since Red Schoendienst was traded to the Braves last year. Schoendienst succeeded Alvin Dark.

"Schoendienst and Dark were fine captains for us," said Rigney. "They were thinking every second out on the field and were always looking for a new way to win a ball game."

"Schoendienst and Dark do it in quiet ways."

"Eddie Stanky was a bit louder, but those guys have always meant a lot more to the clubs they played with than the base hits and putouts they came up with."

Who will the new "holler guy" be? The captaincy usually means a bonus of $500 a season.

Rigney says it could be Danny O'Connell or Daryl Spencer. It might be Jim Finigan, the former Kansas City Athletic.

Hoad Past Psychological Barrier, Says Kramer

BOSTON (AP) — Lew Hoad, gaining seat world professional tennis momentum in his campaign to unchampion Pancho Gonzales, has crossed the psychological barrier according to promoter Jack Kramer.

Kramer maintains that once one of the competitors in the 100-match tour gets more than a six match advantage, the other is in trouble.

The Australian courtmaster made it five straight victories and increased his overall lead to 11-7 Monday night at the Garden by beating Gonzales 10-8, 6-1.

"Once a player gets more than six games in front," Kramer said, "the other's confidence will crack. He starts thinking and wondering about his game and if he needs to make alterations."

The U.S. Navy now has a mechanical compression method to make fresh water from salt water.

ONLY THE START — The season is here for Joe Taylor, Milwaukee Braves equipment manager. He had to have gear packed and shipped to Bradenton, Fla., camp in time for first spring workouts, Feb. 21. And in Florida, he had to unpack it, too.

Tally 79-69 Victory at Ann Arbor

Spartans Open Up Big Ten Race by Beating Wolverines

By The Associated Press
Michigan State, making the most of a "key weekend," opened up the Big Ten basketball race and sent Michigan reeling into the second division Monday night with a 79-69 victory at Ann Arbor.

While the Spartans were taking care of the Wolverines, Ohio State dealt Indiana an 83-83 defeat at Bloomington. Iowa kept its hopes alive with a 74-61 triumph over Wisconsin at Iowa City and Illinois moved out of the cellar with a 94-87 home floor victory over Minnesota.

Only nine days ago, Michigan (4-5) was leading the league and going into last Saturday's games, Michigan State (7-3) was tied for first place with Indiana (5-4).

However, with only four games remaining, Michigan State finds Purdue (6-4) its nearest threat. Purdue and Northwestern (5-5) were idle Monday night. Iowa (5-4) is tied with Indiana, and Illinois moved into eighth place with a 4-6 record followed by Minnesota (4-7) and Wisconsin (3-7).

Michigan State, using a zone defense, trailed by as much as six points twice in the early minutes of play but went ahead 31-25 at halftime and stayed.

Bob Anderregg scored 21 of his 25 points in the second half to back three second half Michigan threats. Pete Tillotson, Michigan's leading scorer, was blanked in the first half and he finished with 15 points. George Lee was high for the Wolverines with 22 points.

For Andy Anderson, Michigan State coach, said after the game: "It was a key weekend for us. We beat Illinois and then a traditional rival on the road. We wanted to keep the pressure on them all the way by getting down fast and getting off that quick shot.

"It was a planned defense and it was the first time we used the zone this season," Anderson added. "I thought Michigan would try to pick up the flaws in it at halftime so we went into a semi-press for five minutes and then went into a zone."

Michigan Coach Bill Pergo said "I wasn't surprised by the zone. I'm not surprised by anything anymore. We kept getting a lot of fouls and they hurt us."

The big surprise was Ohio State's triumph over Indiana. It was the first time the Hoosiers have lost a conference game at home this season and it was Ohio State's first win away from home.

Ohio State held a 47-37 halftime lead and when the Hoosiers threatened late in the game, Jim Laughlin hit for six quick points to trample Indiana's hopes. Laughlin topped all scorers with 26 points. Pete Obremsky had 24 for Indiana and Archie Dees finished with 19.

Illinois overcame an early Minnesota lead and shot into a 40-37 halftime lead. The Gophers rallied for a 44-44 tie but a basket by Don Ohl put the Illini ahead to stay.

John Paul scored 25 points for Illinois and Ohl added 23, but both were outscored by Minnesota's George Kline and Ron Johnson who finished with 27 and 26 points, respectively.

Clarence Wordlaw's 26 points helped Iowa defeat Wisconsin. The Hawkeyes moved into a 39-30 halftime lead and were never seriously threatened thereafter. Bryan Kulas led Wisconsin with 21 points, and Bob Litow chipped in with 20.

Tribe Gets Porter, Woodshick

Cleveland Trades Jim Hegan, Pitcher Aguirre to Detroit

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians today traded veteran catcher Jim Hegan and southpaw pitcher Hank Aguirre to the Detroit Tigers for catcher J. W. Porter and Harold Woodshick, also a lefthanded hurler.

Cleveland General Manager Frank Lane indicated that from Cleveland's standpoint, the deal was made to bring younger baseball players to the Tribe. No money was involved in the deal.

Hegan, who will be 38 this summer, has been with Cleveland since 1941. After three years in the Coast Guard, Hegan returned to the club in 1946 and has been the regular receiver since then. He had appeared in 112 or more games for ten consecutive seasons. Injuries slowed him up in 1957 when he played in only 59 games and hit .216. He has a lifetime batting average of .230 but was one of the key factors in Cleveland's pitching successes from 1946-57.

Porter, 25, received a $65,000 bonus in 1951 when Lane, then general manager for the Chicago

White Sox, signed him. He also played briefly with the St. Louis Browns before being traded to Detroit in the winter of 1952. During the past two seasons, Porter has seen service in a utility capacity, appearing in 58 games in 1957. He batted .250.

Aguirre, 26, spent most of last season with San Diego of the Pacific Coast League where he won six and lost 13. He was 1-1 with Cleveland.

Woodshick, 25, was drafted by the Tigers from the New York Giants' farm system. He spent last season at Charleston in the American Association and later was sent to Augusta in the Sally League.

With Hegan gone, the Cleveland catching duties will be shared by Hal Narogon and Earl Averill in addition to Porter.

W. Reserve Eliminated By Springfield

The Springfield Local Tigers had no trouble advancing into the finals of the losers bracket in the Mahoning County Class A tourney at Struthers as they doubled the score on a weak-shooting Western Reserve five 64-32 last night.

The Tigers will now meet Greenford Thursday night to decide which team goes to sectional play in Warren.

Dave Ohlin paced the winners last night with 25 points while Smith and Szajkard had 12 each.

For Reserve Schobel and Yeager had eight each and Barringer and Larkins seven apiece.

Mather To Coach For Chicago Bears

CHICAGO (AP) — Speculation about the immediate future of Chuck Mather, former University of Kansas and Massillon (Ohio) high school football coach, ended today.

It was announced that Mather will become an assistant coach for the professional Chicago Bears, concentrating on the backs.

The 41-year-old Mather, head coach at Kansas from 1954 until his resignation in 1957 became effective, will assist owner George Halas, who has decided to become head coach again. Paddy Driscoll, head coach of the Bears for two years, was named administration vice president.

At Washington High in Massillon, Mather's teams won 57 and lost 3 in six seasons. He is an advocate of the modern T-formation, originated by the Bears.

Morgan of Youngstown Scores KO in 1st Round

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Jimmy Feaster of Las Vegas remained conscious less than half a round Monday night in a scheduled 10-rounder against L. C. Morgan of Youngstown, Ohio.

Morgan, 138½, put Feaster down for a count of nine in the first half minute, then knocked him out with a right about a half minute later. Feaster weighed 137.

Kansas State First in AP Poll

Cincinnati Climbs Into Second Position

By The Associated Press
Oscar Robertson may not be gaining ground in the race for the scoring title, but he's triggering Cincinnati's late surge in the Associated Press poll that could set up a storybook showdown with top-ranked Kansas State in the NCAA major college basketball tournament.

Robertson, still less than a point behind Elgin Baylor of Seattle in scoring, counted 43 Monday night as Cincinnati whipped Drake 98-64 for a 19-2 record and an 11-game winning streak.

That string hoisted the Bearcats from third to second in today's AP poll and left Kansas State and Cincinnati well ahead of the field.

Kansas State (17-1) picked up 33 first-place votes to Cincinnati's 37, but pulled in enough support on points (based on 10 for first, 9 for second, etc., down to 1 for 10th) to edge the Bearcats 980 to 971.

State, idle Monday night, holds the inside lane in the run for the Big Eight title while Cincinnati looks like a shoe-in for the Missouri Valley championship. The Big Eight and Mo-Valley winners meet March 14 at Lawrence, Kan. in the second round of the NCAA Tournament.

Once-beaten West Virginia slipped to third in today's rankings, but won its 21st Monday night in a 96-66 decision over Detroit.

Kansas, ranked No. 4, moved within 1½ games of Kansas State in the Big Eight as Wilt Chamberlain scored 34 in an 84-69 victory over Missouri. The Jayhawks now are 16-3.

San Francisco (no. 5) won its 20th in 21 starts, smacking Fresno State 68-59. But Oklahoma State (No. 8) was knocked off by 15th ranked Bradley 57-43.

Robertson, battled by Red Murrell for the first 20 minutes, hit 17 of 22 field goal attempts as the Bearcats sank better than 50 per cent (39 of 77) as a unit. Murrell finished with 30 points.

Oscar now has scored 706 points in 21 games for a 33.6 average. Baylor has 654 points in 19 games for a 34.4 average. Chamberlain, third in scoring, now has a 31.4 average with 534 points in 17 games.

Bob Smith's 21 points led West Virginia to its 21st straight victory at home.

Kansas had trouble with Mizout's stalling tactics for 10 minutes. But it was 43-17 at the half.

Bradley, using only five men, checked Oklahoma State with 14 points in the second half while reversing a 54-42 setback at Stillwater, Okla.

Michigan State retained its Big Ten lead by defeating Michigan 79-69. Kentucky took charge in the last six minutes for a 65-61 decision over Vanderbilt. Louisiana State upset Alabama 58-49.

Kentucky now can clinch no worse than a tie for the South eastern title by defeating Bama Saturday.

Class A Defending Champions Knocked Out of Tournament

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's 387 Class AA high school teams drop the curtain on the regular campaign this week, then head down the tournament trail to the state title which only one can win.

The 646 Class A quintets, in their second week of county eliminations, will slash their field to 224 by Saturday, setting the stage for next week's sectional-district play.

Gratis, runner-up to Ayersville for last year's Class A crown, was sidelined early this time. The 1957 finalists bowed out just as they did a year ago, in an overtime tilt. Jackson needed two extra periods to usher Gratis from the running by 51-49.

Ayersville's defending champs also were knocked out of the running with a 59-27 defeat Monday night by Ney in the Defiance County tournament.

Bethel, the little 16-boy school from Monroe County, and Midvale of Tuscarawas County, last year's semi-finalists, are still in the running.

Middletown, as usual, is tops in Class AA. The Middies, winners of the state Class AA laurels the last two years, and riding a 69-game winning streak, were tagged as No. 1 by 23 of 39 sports editors in the weekly A. P. poll. Middletown also won the state title in 1944, 1946, 1947, 1952 and 1953, for a total of seven in the last 14 years.

Jerry Lucas, Middletown's 6-10 senior, scored 63 points against Lima Friday in a 105-48 rout for his No. 1 high school effort. Lima held him to 16 the first time around.

The 63 boosted his 17-game total to 559 and his 69-game career mark to 2,219. That leaves him 33 points back of the national school record made by Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain of Kansas. He could pass The Stilt this week as he winds up his regular campaign against Portsmouth.

Another point-producing artist didn't fare so well. He's Ohio City's Marvin Walls, who scored 33 points in an 86-63 loss to Van Del which ousted his team from

Last 45 Places In Houston Golf Tourney On Line

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The last 45 places in the $30,000 Houston Classic Golf Tournament went on the line today as the first 124 players teed off in an 18-hole qualifying round.

The classic starts Thursday at Memorial Park with 130 players, the first 85 of whom drew invitations without having to go through a qualifying round.

All but 5 of the 124 players in the qualifying round are pros. No more than four amateurs will be allowed to qualify and they must be among the low 45 to do so. The amateurs are from Texas.

Despite a cold drizzle Monday, many of the tournament's leading contenders were at Memorial limbering up. Some went the full 18 holes at the 7,200-yard pot 72 course.

Joe Conrad and Johnny Pott will replace Sam Snead and Doug Higgins on the PGA invitation list. Snead and Higgins will not be able to play here. Another big-name pro who will not compete in the 72-hole classic is Cary Middlecoff.

Speculation in the classic will center on three new stars of the winter tour—Ken Venturi, 26, of 14 California, the lone double winner so far; Bill Johnston, 36, Provo, Utah, who collected top money Sunday at San Antonio, and David Marr, 24 Houston, who turned pro five years ago after having been a student at Memorial.

NCAA Group Trying to Aid Amateurs

CHICAGO (AP) — An effort to protect the amateur status of college athletes playing summer baseball was made Monday at a meeting of a special NCAA committee and leagues.

The purpose of the meeting was to determine which leagues will conform their operating procedures to the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. code.

Walter Byers, executive director of the NCAA, said three points were developed at the meeting:

1. Leagues must agree on operational procedures.

2. Leagues must file with the NCAA their schedules for the season and their operating regulations.

3. Leagues must file with the NCAA their club rosters showing where a boy goes to college, where he works in the summer, his rate of pay, employers name, etc.

Under the NCAA plan, applications will be acted on by March 15 and not later than April 1 and a list of certified leagues or teams.

The recently adopted NCAA summer baseball code includes the will be sent to member schools, following points:

A student athlete may play summer baseball as an amateur on any team not under the jurisdiction of professional baseball. He can participate as a team member against pro athletes.

Such a player may hold jobs which are legitimate in their nature and function. They must be gainfully employed for at least 32 hours a week on the job and pay shall be commensurate with the going rate of the locale.

Such players can play whenever feasible providing this does not interfere with their opportunity to work 32 hours.

Minimum transportation costs may be paid by the employer from and to the player's home.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Victor Riesel

Depression, both of mood and finances, has hit labor's high command. It may well be that the house of labor will have to mortgage itself and borrow money. Reports are that the national AFL-CIO income has fallen below $150,000 a week — and is still dropping. If this continues, it could mean an insolvent national labor headquarters.

Hit by the depression like any other business, the AFL-CIO has slashed its staff by 40 per cent and is cutting corners to stay out of the red. Like any other layoffs, the impact on the AFL-CIO employees has been brutal—especially on those who have been forced to retire on pensions of $10 to $20 a week and must depend on U.S. Social Security payments for more than their daily crumbs.

The slappings of labor's staff of organizers from its original total of 390—which cost four million dollars a year to maintain—to less than 250 is not in George Meany's tradition.

SOME WHO HAVE worked with the AFL-CIO chief for years say that his cigar-chewing gruffness and stone-wall toughness camouflage a softness which has kept him from firing any but two men in all his years of national command.

One simple washed himself off the payroll with gallons of alcohol. The other took in business on the side as a bookie and actually used the AFL national headquarters number for his daily-double clients.

Moreover, though Meany has a temper swifter than the moment between the count-down and the blast-off he has been known to reach for the telephone and apologize when wrong. And he has personally telephoned hospitalized staff members and comforted them with the assurance that their jobs would be there when they walked off the sick bed.

There is little doubt that Meany moved under great pressure when he came to the AFL-CIO Executive Committee not too long ago with suggestions for slashing the national labor headquarters and 22 regional staffs even more drastically than was finally done.

HE EASED OFF and left the pruning to his second-in-command, William Schnitzler, secretary treasurer of the AFL-CIO. Brother Schnitzler was as subtle as an old burlesque pratfall. Of the 55 national labor organizers he fired about 40 were out of the old CIO, the last president of which was Walter Reuther.

There was not a single argument in defense of these firings made by the house of labor which differed from what the House of Morgan could be expected to say caught up in a depression. When in bad times.

Labor, as well as capital, is business is off, jobs vanish. When jobs vanish, so do dues payments from union members.

Soon there will be six million jobless. Most of these are and will be union members in the heavy industries. Of the 1,110,000 unlucky people who lost their jobs between mid-December and mid-January, almost 500,000 were in the "hard goods" industries, mostly metals, machinery and automobiles.

These figures are expected to grow more ominous in the next report covering the month ending mid-February. This means that there will be further cuts in the biggest AFL-CIO unions and thus less income for the home office in Washington.

THESE CUTS, just as much as the price of virtue, namely the ousting of the Teamsters and other unions, have hit the AFL-CIO budget.

The Auto Union reportedly is paying for 250,000 fewer members

"TELL THEM TO BE CAREFUL!" — Dean Bisbee tries to comfort his son, Lynn, 16, as the youth receives emergency treatment at Denver (Colo.) General Hospital after a homemade rocket exploded and blew off part of the boy's right hand. "Just tell the other kids to be more careful when they're working with explosives," the science student asked. Lynn's words of caution were echoed in Huntsville, Ala., by Maj. Gen. H. N. Tofoy, commanding general of Redstone Arsenal, who issued a stiff warning urging amateur rocketeers to use "extreme" caution in making homemade rockets.

than it did a year ago. The Steel Workers Union is estimated to have almost 400,000 fewer dues-payers.

Similarly hit are the Machinists and other craft outfits. For every unemployed worker, the national AFL-CIO headquarters loses a nickel a month.

Yet, seldom has the national labor headquarters needed funds as much as it does today. It is on the defensive and is about to launch a public relations program costing $1,200,000 a year.

It is rolling into a congressional session in which it hopes to fight off punitive laws. It is heading into a national political campaign. And it must, to preserve its prestige, launch some organizing drives.

But there's no business when there's slow business, even for labor leaders. In a depression they find they must run their firm as any other executives do. You can't put out more than you take in for very long.

The Hall Syndicate Nero watched the gladiatorial contests in Rome through an emerald, ground to act as a lens. He was nearsighted.

Navy Makes Headway On Polaris

Funds Are Sought For Submarine Launchers

By BEM PRICE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is so far along in the development of an underwater long-range ballistic missile that the Navy has asked Congress for funds to step up construction of submarine launchers.

Within the next few months the Navy is expected to submit plans for the construction of nine additional atomic-powered underwater boats to be used as missile launchers. Three are already under construction.

Progress on the solid propellant 1,500-mile range Polaris, says the Navy, has been "amazing" — so much so that the missile's development is two years ahead of schedule.

Just how the Navy plans to launch the Polaris from underwater is, for the moment, a military secret.

It is no secret, however, that at the end of World War II, the Germans, who had developed the V2 rocket, with a 200-mile range, were experimenting with missile launching platforms which were towed to the target areas behind submarines.

These experimental devices were captured by the Russians when they overran Hitler's rocket base at Peenemunde on the Baltic sea. There have been persistent reports that the Russians already have missiles which can be launched from submarines.

The old German devices consisted of huge tubes with the missile inside. Upon arriving in the target area the tubes were water ballasted until they turned to upright position.

Since the tubes were subjected to wave motion, the original missiles could not be aimed accurately and were designed for use against large area targets.

The German inventions were crude affairs. Since then, it is believed the underwater launchers have been highly refined.

Obviously the smoke and flame attendant to the firing of a missile underwater in a submarine would make life nearly untenable and extremely dangerous in case of a misfire.

In all probability some canister device has been designed which can be loaded with a missile and fired toward the surface of the sea like a torpedo.

As soon as this canister reaches the surface of the sea, automatically controlled doors on one end will fly open and the missile will be fired almost simultaneously straight up.

By firing the missile straight up from a fixed point beneath the sea and using pre-set gyroscopes to bring it on course, a greater degree of accuracy can be obtained than under the old German system.

In the past four years there have been major breakthroughs in the use of solid propellants. One of these permits use of a solid propellant engine to obtain directional control.

FREAK STORM IN INDIANA — An isolated freak blizzard buried Michigan City, Ind., under about four feet of snow, an exception in the sunny, cold Midwest. Residents are shown digging out of drifts, some of which reached 18-foot depths. Chicago sent the city additional plows.

Odds and Ends

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That women outlive men, but the average man keeps his teeth two years longer than the average woman. The explanation why — if science ever discovers it — should be fascinating.

That your doctor is 100 times more likely to become a narcotics addict than you are. About one per cent of American physicians acquire the dope habit sometime during their life.

That actress June Haver has this to say about television humor: "One thing is sure — the jokes last longer than the comics."

That if you're worried over the growth of big business in America, this item may cheer you: Nearly four of every five successful oil wells drilled in this country in 1956 were owned by small companies and independent operators.

That you don't have to worry about a future shortage of toothpicks either. One billion forest trees — a record — were planted last year.

That one of George Washington's favorite pastimes was marathons. And did you know he had false teeth made of ivory and iron? No wonder he sometimes looked grim.

That juvenile delinquency wasn't such a big problem among the old Romans. Until the first century B.C., a father by law had the power of life and death over his kids. When he told his ten-year-old son he couldn't have the family chariot, the boy knew he meant it!

That koala bears have two thumbs on each paw — and, some days, don't you feel like you do, too?

That if you haven't had your auto muffler checked recently, you should. If defective, it can let enough odorless carbon monoxide fumes seep into your car to wipe out your whole family.

That in Alaska you can't legally hunt a walrus unless you are born an Eskimo.

That 26 per cent of New York City firms now treat Good Friday as a full paid holiday. The figure is 90 per cent for Washington's birthday and 3 per cent for Lincoln's birthday.

That Robert Q. Lewis says, "The girl who has nothing regards herself as the best gift for the man who has everything."

That the writing of the great artist and inventor Leonardo Da Vinci was difficult to read because he wrote from right to left. Example: silt ekil.

That you really have to babble to pronounce the name of babbling little brook near Sherman, Conn. It is called "Naramiyoeknowhusunkatankshunk" — but only by its lifelong friends.

That salami originated in the city of Sallamis on the coast of Cyprus, and was prized as a tidbit by the Roman emperors.

That belching at meals was considered perfectly polite by the Romans who thought it only intelligent for a man to follow the dictates of nature.

That modern dairies find they need 35 gallons of water daily for each milk cow. But what do they do with it?

That bandleader Sammy Kaye says a girl confided to him recently, "I can't stand unhappiness. It makes me too miserable."

That the giant waterfall sign put up on Times Square by a soft drink company uses 15,000 gallons of anti-freeze a season, enough to last an average car for 7,500 years.

That three out of four divorcees in America eventually remarry.

That it was playwright Henrik Ibsen who observed, "You should never wear your best trousers when you go out to fight for freedom and truth."

Man Seeks $3,816 As Result of Mishap

LSBON — A suit for $3,816.13 for personal injuries and damages allegedly stemming from an auto accident was filed in common pleas court Monday by Marion Hauser of East Liverpool.

Thomas Adams, John Watson, Harry Faith and Marie Faith, operators of the Elite Aquarium, East Liverpool were named as defendants.

Hauser claims in the petition that on Jan. 20 1957 he was driving a car on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near its Greensburg exit when his auto was struck from the rear by a truck owned by defendants, causing damages to his car and personal injuries.

Dogs Causing Mailmen Great Deal of Worry

By The Associated Press

Dogs that enjoy tasting the mailman, Postmaster General Summerfield has hinted darkly, may accomplish what catastrophe has rarely done—stay the courier in the making of his appointed rounds.

This ranking of the noble dog's natural talent for calamity above such things as storm, sleet, rain and gloom of night may surprise some folks, but not veteran dog owners nor their wives.

Nevertheless, certain muted grumbling and growling has been heard in canine circles as a result. For instance, the government announcement ignores the keen alertness engendered in a postman whose orbit intersects that of a good threatening dog. Also ignored is the healthful exercise obtained hotfooting it for the nearest refuge — and trees aren't one—in times of crisis.

Not only that, but the statistics might be a little misleading. The Post Office said something about 6,000 bites in a year. That's one to every 20 mailmen. But after all, there are some 25 million dogs in this country, which makes the vast majority of them appear to be practically vegetarian.

But that isn't quite true, of course. The postmen may be a little pretentious about their appeal. Some dogs with a large experience actually seem to prefer biting meter readers, magazine salesmen and even garbage collectors.

And the Gaines Dog Research Center says that maybe it will do a little research into whether some mailmen aren't just "bite prone."

Short Casts: It's hard to keep listening to grandpa's stories about the good old days in hunting when things like this keep cropping up. Wyoming says that more moose permits were issued in the state last year than in any previous year—804—and that 31 per cent of the hunters were successful... Pheasant technicians of 13 Midwest states and provinces have formed a council to exchange information—a potentially fruitful undertaking, since their local methods range from treating the ringneck as a wild bird to treating him as put-and-take poultry... At least 2,931 deer were killed in Michigan—a fair bag for some states—last year—but these were all traffic victims.

A PERSONAL MESSAGE FROM THE MANAGER OF

THE STATE THEATRE

Dear Friends:

It is my pleasure to tell you about a wonderful motion picture I saw the other day. It is called GOD IS MY PARTNER and I want to share its memorable experience with everyone of you.

GOD IS MY PARTNER tells the story of a miracle that happened on Main Street—of how Christmas came in Maytime to one American town... touching everyone, from Willie the Lump down at the pool parlor, up to the rich man who learned most people give from their pants pocket instead of the one over their heart!

The picture stars three-time Academy Award winner Walter Brennan in a production full of heart-warming drama.

Seeing GOD IS MY PARTNER made me proud to be a member of the human race. It is a picture you'll want to bring your whole family to. You will all feel better for having seen it.

N. I. WALKEN

P. S. — We are proud that Salem is one of the first cities in Ohio to show this wonderful film.
